INDEX TO VOLUME CLIV.

AUTHORS.

Adams, John D. A report of seventeen cases in open-air treatment for surgical tuberculosis in children, 71.
Allen, Bradford. A second ectopic pregnancy in same patient within period of fourteen months, 654.
Allen, Dudley P., Sanford, Henry L., and Dolley, D. H. Traumatic defects of the skull. Their relation to epilepsy. A clinical and experimental study of their repair, 396.
Alsever, W. D. A case of Landry's paralysis, 408.

Baird, Addison W. Apparatus for local application of dry cold and heat, 706.
Baldwin, Henry C. Brain injuries. 1. Gunshot wound involving both occipital lobes: study of visual fields. 2. Fracture of skull: injury to frontal lobe, 185; case of tumor of spinal cord, correctly diagnosticated; operation; marked improvement, 623.
Barnes, Henry J. The influence of dampness of soil and climate on the diseases of respiration, 490.
Barney, J. Dellinger. A new needle holder, 375.
Bartlett, Willard. The secret of the Mayos' success, 434.
Benedict, A. L. A dietetic study, 521.
Billings, Frank. The medical profession and the medical journals in relation to nostrums, 231.
Billings, J. S., Jr. Typhoid fever in the city of New York during 1905, 569.
Bishop, Louis Faugeres. An indirect advantage of the routine application of clinical pathology to diagnosis, 159.
Blodgett, John H. New instrument. Tonsil scissors, 237.
Boehm, Max. A contribution to the etiology of "lateral curvature" of the spine, 99; appendix, 629; recent researches on the pathology and etiology of juvenile spinal deformities (lateral curvature of the spine), 624.
Bowen, John T. Scabies, 624.
Bowen, John T., Towle, Harvey P. Report on progress in dermatalogy, 584.
Bradford, E. H. Open-air treatment of bone tuberculosis at the Wellesley Convalescent Home: with a list of thirty permanently cured cases, 57; the hyperemia treatment of congested and inflamed tissues, 671.
Brewster, G. W. W., and Walton, G. L. Fracture of skull probably involving the base. Recovery after operation. Analysis of the aphasia, 630.
Briggs, L. Vernon. A consideration of the treatment of auto-intoxication or auto-infection where they are the cause of mental disturbance, 431, 464, 493; observation hospital for mental disease. Some reasons why there should be one in Boston, or at least an observation ward; statistics of those at Albany and Glasgow, 696.
Brown, Philip King. A report of two cases of erythema multiforme desquamativum, one of them complicated by purpuric eruption, with a discussion of the underlying constitutional conditions, 126.
Bryant, Joseph D. The nature and progress of malignant disease, 723.
Buckingham, Edward M. Charles E. Buckingham, M.D., 115; Charles E. Buckingham, M.D. "Errors in the Harvard Medical School History," 169.
Bullard, William N. Indications for operation in head injuries, 184.
Burley, Benjamin T. A case of cerebral abscess, 376.
Burrage, W. L. A case of acute torsion of the Fallopian tube with hematosalpinx, 295; recent progress in gynecology, 438; recent progress in obstetrics, 740.
Burrell, Herbert L., and Cushing, H. W. Report on the progress of surgery, 498, 523.

Caswell, B. H. Consideration and treatment of the accidents of surgical anesthesia with special reference to prevalent drug treatment, 733.
Chamberlain, Weston P. Analysis of the one hundred and twenty cases of malaria occurring at Camp Gregg, Philippine Islands, 29.
Chase, Richard F. An experience with cascara, 523.
Cheever, David W. Erratum, 566; 1806-1906. The Boston Medical Association, 509; homeopathy and the Massachusetts Medical Society, 451.
Cheney, Frederick E. The operation for cataract, 369.
Chute, Arthur L. Some cases illustrating cystoscopic diagnosis, 309.
Clapp, Herbert C. On the importance of early diagnosis in cases of pulmonary tuberculosis, 65.
Cobb, Farrar. The treatment of ununited fractures of the neck of the femur by operation, with report of a case, 517.
Codman, E. A. A case of amputation at the shoulder joint for infection with Welch's gas producing bacillus. Recovery, 270; on stiff and painful shoulders. The anatomy of the subdeltoid or subacromial bursa and its clinical importance. Subdeltoid bursitis, 613; diagnosis of subdeltoid bursitis, 750.
Coffin, Rockwell A. A new gouge for submucous operations in the nose, 217.
Coolidge, A., Jr. Recent progress in laryngology, 44, 73.
Copp, Owen. What should be the state policy regarding tuberculosis in insane asylums? 63.
Coues, W. P. A case of double uvula in a child, 706.
Cowan, J. R. The value of laboratory methods to the country practitioner, 257.
Cowles, Edward. The problem of psychiatry in the functional psychoses, 117, 143, 171.
Crandon, L. R. G. Dislocation of shoulder with contusion of brachial plexus, 339.
Crockett, E. A. A case of acute meningitis. Operation. Recovery, 103.
Cumston, Charles Greene. What effective measures are there for the prevention of the spread of syphilis and the increase of prostitution? 729.
Cushing, H. W., and Burrell, Herbert L. Report on the progress of surgery, 498, 523.
Cutler, E. G. Ascites following adherent pericarditis and perihepatitis, 629.

Davis, Lincoln. A fatal case of gastric tetany, 436.
Davis, Lincoln, and Richardson, Oscar. A case of congenital occlusion of the small intestine. Operation. Autopsy, 266.
Dawbarn, Robert H. M. Subdeltoid bursitis: a pathognomonic sign for its recognition, 691.
Dickerson, S. C. The defensive properties of the organism, 405.
Dolley, D. H., Allen, Dudley P., and Sanford, Henry L. Traumatic defects of the skull. Their relation to epilepsy. A clinical and experimental study of their repair, 396.
Dunham, Henry B. Contractile processes in the lung as a result of phthisis, with reference especially to their production of permanent dextrocardia, 155.
Dwight, Thomas. Rosenberg's theory of the development of the spine, 141.

Emerson, F. P. General lympho-sarcoma especially active in the throat. Preliminary report, 104.

Fassett, Charles Wood. International Medical Congress, 255.
Fitz, G. W. A clinical and anatomical study of resistant forward shoulders, 423.
Foster, E. E. Description of Killian's frontal sinus operation, 91.
Francis, George Hills. Fracture of the lower end of the femur, 677.

Gay, George W. The House of Delegates, American Medical Association, 721.
Goodhue, E. S. The Bacillus leprae (Hansen) found in the mosquito (Culex pungens) and in the bedbug, 537.
Gould, George M. A biographic clinic on Tchaikovsky, 513, 552.
Graves, W. P. Adenomyoma of the uterus. A report of four cases, 283; an operation for cystocele, 462; vaginapexy, 152.
Green, Charles M. A review of five cases of ovarian cyst with twisted pedicle, 293.
Greene, D. Crosby, Jr. A study of the larynx in tabes, 97.
Griffin, Walter A. The open-air treatment of tuberculosis, 288.

Hammond, Philip. Brain abscess. Operation. Recovery, 102.
Hare, C. H. A case of inverted uterus, 157.
Harrington, Charles. The sanitary importance of clean milk, 121.
Harrington, F. B. I. Resection of colon for obstruction by a malignant adenoma. II. Epithelioma of the esophagus. Excision. III. Shoulder girdle amputation for carcinoma of the axilla. IV. Traumatic cyst of the pancreas, 269.
Harrington, Thomas F. "Errors in the Harvard Medical School History," 141.
Hartwell, H. F. The treatment of joint disease by passive congestion, 483.
Hawes, John B., 2d. The early diagnosis and the aggressive treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis in a large out-patient clinic, 373.
Hill, T. Chittendon. Pruritus ani: its etiology and treatment, 580.
Hoff, John Van R. Medical statistics and the sanitary department of the Russian forces in the Far East, 599.
Holt, William L. The American Society of Sanitary and Moral Prophylaxis, 168.
Hubbard, Joshua C. A tumor of the kidney shown by microscopic examination to be hypernephroma, 399; contusions of the abdomen, 100.

Jackson, Henry. The complications of acute pneumonia, 620.
Jones, Daniel Fiske. A report of three cases of perforated gastric ulcer; gastro-enterostomy, 36.
Joslin, Elliott P. Progress in gastro-intestinal diseases, 655, 679, 707.

Kaan, George W. Contributions for professional brothers in California, 566.
Kinnicutt, Francis P. The treatment of chronic diseases of the heart by the Nauheim methods: its indications and contra-indications, 539.
Knapp, Philip Coombs. The mental symptoms of cerebral tumor, 361; the results of operation for the removal of cerebral tumors, 124.

Larrabee, Ralph C. The teaching of hematology, 577.
Lindley, Walter. The physician's duty to his fellow-practitioner and to himself, 481.
Locke, Edwin A., and Wolbach, S. B. A case of multiple ulcers of the gall bladder, 703.
Lord, Frederick T. Progress in therapeutics, 632.
Lothrop, Howard A. Fractures of the superior maxillary bone caused by direct blows over the malar bone. A method for the treatment of such fractures, 8.
Lovett, Robert W. Remarks on the infections of joints, 575.
Luce, D. S., and Taylor, E. W. A case of adiposis dolorosa, 187.
Lund, F. B. Adenocarcinoma of the sigmoid flexure, 341.

Manahan, T. J. A demonstration of the Spirochaeta pallida of syphilis, with description of rapid method of staining, 264.
Mather, E. E. Contract physicians, 83.
Mayo, William J. The medical profession and the issues which confront it, 667.
Mays, Thomas J. Dazzling health statistics, 42.
Mills, Charles K. The significance of Jacksonian epilepsy in focal diagnosis, with some discussion of the site and nature of the lesions and disorders causing this form of spasm, 453.

Morrow, Prince A. Sanitary and moral prophylaxis, 674.
Mosher, Harris Peyton. Inflammation of the frontal sinus, 645.
Mumford, James G. John Hunter. 1728 to 1793, 201.

Nichols, Edward H., and Smith, Homer B. The physical aspect of American football, 1.
Nichols, John H. What special instructions regarding tuberculosis should be given institution nurses and other employees? Are nurses caring for cases of tuberculosis in danger of contracting the disease? 64.
Northrup, W. P. Cold fresh air treatment of pneumonia. A case, 216.

Otis, Edward O. The methods and aims of the physician, 391.

Pearson, R. A. Some influences in favor of better market milk, 463.
Percy, Frederick B. The homeopathic principle, 336.
Peters, Austin. The suppression of tuberculosis in our daily herds, 67.
Pfaff, Franz. The use and abuse of digitalis, 551.
Potter, Nathaniel Bowditch. The value of Virchow's smooth atrophy of the base of the tongue in the diagnosis of syphilis, 260.
Pratt, Joseph H. On the development of scientific hydrotherapy, 85; progress in pathology, 318, 343; the "home sanatorium" treatment of consumption, 210.
Prince, Morton. Head injuries, 182.

Quackenboss, Alex. Amaurotic family idiocy: a report of four cases, 238.
Quimby, Charles E. The treatment of organic heart disease by the pneumatic cabinet, 543.

Richardson, Mark W. Progress in thoracic diseases, 296.
Richardson, Oscar, and Davis, Lincoln. A case of congenital occlusion of the small intestine. Operation. Autopsy, 266.
Robinson, Beverley. Some truths and some fictions, 691; "the purgation of therapeutics," 281.
Rockwell, A. E. P. The testimony of the fathers, 652.
Rogers, Albert E. The successful treatment of tuberculosis, 291.
Rogers, O. F. Should the tuberculosis insane in hospitals be segregated? 62.
Ruston, W. D., and Southard, E. E. Cerebral seizures with suboccipital pain: miliary cerebral and gross vertebral aneurysms, 312.
Roosa, D. B. St. John. A correction, 537.

Sachs, B. Serious head injuries and the indications for operative treatment, 176.
Sanford, Henry L., Allen, Dudley P., and Dolley, D. H. Traumatic defects of the skull. Their relation to epilepsy. A clinical and experimental study of their repair, 396.
Scannell, David D. General purulent peritonitis without obvious cause, 341; general purulent peritonitis without obvious cause; secondary enterostomy, 340.
Scudder, Charles L. A metastatic hypernephroma, 271; cerebral embolism following ligation of the external carotid artery, 317; stenosis of the pylorus in infancy. The report of a second case successfully operated upon. Remarks, 208.
Semmes, R. O. "The medical profession and the medical journals in relation to nostrums," 331.
Shattuck, Frederick C. A case of hypernephroma, 270; depletion in heart disease, 549; method of instruction in the Harvard Medical School, 607; the value of drugs in therapeutics, 333; how progress comes in medicine, 693.
Shattuck, George B. Exostoses, 343; gout, 342.
Smith, Homer B., and Nichols, Edward H. The physical aspect of American football, 1.
Smith, Theobald. What is the relation between human and bovine tuberculosis and how does it affect inmates of public institutions? 60.
Southard, E. E., and Ruston, W. D. Cerebral seizures and suboccipital pain: miliary cerebral and gross vertebral aneurysms, 312.
Soutter, Robert. Shoes and feet, 40.
Spear, Edmund D. Photophobia. A nasal reflex, 236.
Stevens, E. H. Puerperal septicemia, 12.
Storer, Malcolm. Bilateral torsion of the Fallopian tubes, 285.
Strong, Lawrence W. Immunity against tuberculosis, 140.
Swift, John B. A case of extra-uterine pregnancy, 158.
Sylvester, Charles P. A case of psoriasis cured by laparotomy and curettage, 583.

Taylor, E. W., and Luce, D. S. A case of adiposis dolorosa, 187.
Thorndike, Paul, and Watson, F. S. Progress in genito-urinary surgery, 239.
Tileston, Wilder. The treatment of tuberculosis in public institutions, 66.
Towle, Harvey P., and Bowen, John T. Report on progress in dermatology, 584.
Townsend, David. Day sanatorium for consumptives, Parker Hill, Boston, 69.
Tracy, Edward A. Open-air treatment of bone tuberculosis, 169.

Walton, G. L. Crush of cord from spinal fracture, 632.
Walton, G. L., and Brewster, G. W. W. Fracture of skull probably involving the base. Recovery after operation. Analysis of the aphasia, 630.
Watson, F. S. Prostatic hypertrophy, perineal prostatectomy. Recovery. Immediate result cure, 340; pyopneumo-thorax. Operation, 340.
Watson, F. S., and Thorndike, Paul. Progress in genito-urinary surgery, 239.
Weiser, Walter R. Gunshot wounds of the head and spine, 314.
Wellman, F. C. Some etiological suggestions. (1) Concerning the significance of an embryo intestinal worm found in the blood stream; (2) regarding a spirochæte found in yaws papules; and (3) a hint as to the possible connection between chiggers and ainhum, 489; supplementary note on a spirochæte found in yaws papules, 490.
Wesselhoeft, Walter. A system of clinical research directed purely towards therapeutic ends, 479.
Wheatley, Frank G. Ready-made remedies, 235.
White, James C. The past of the Boston Medical Association. Changes in the fee-table, 512.
Williams, Francis H. A further note on a new method of using the Roentgen rays; the consideration of primary treatment of some early cases of breast cancer by these rays, 641.
Wolbach, S. B., and Locke, Edwin A. A case of multiple ulcers of the gall bladder, 696.
Wright, James Homer. The origin and nature of the blood plates, 643.

Young, Ernest Boyen. An inexpensive mechanical treatment for anterior metatarsalgia, 338; fibroids and pregnancy, extra- and intra-uterine pregnancy, 339.
Young, L. M. Franklin's contributions to medicine, 597.

SUBJECTS.

Abdomen. Contusions of the abdomen, Hubbard, Joshua C., 100.
Abscess. Brain abscess. Operation. Recovery, Hammond, Philip, 102.
Addresses. 1806-1906. The Boston Medical Association, Cheever, David W., 509; the value of laboratory methods to the country practitioner, Cowan, J. R., 257; the problem of psychiatry in the functional psychoses, Cowles, Edward, 117, 143, 171; medical statistics and the sanitary department of the Russian forces in the Far East, Hoff, John Van R., 599; the physician's duty to his fellow-practitioner and to himself, Lindley, Walter, 481; the medical profession and the issues which confront it, Mayo, William J., 667; John Hunter. 1728 to 1793, Mumford, James G., 201; the methods and aims of the physician, Otis, Edward O., 391; the nature and progress of malignant disease, Bryant, Joseph D., 723; how progress comes in medicine, Shattuck, Frederick C., 693.
Adiposis Dolorosa. A case of adiposis dolorosa, Taylor, E. W., and Luce, D. S., 187.
American Medical Association. The Boston session of the American Medical Association, 281; the House of Delegates, American Medical Association, Gay, George W., 721.
American Medicine. American Medicine becomes a monthly, 389.
Amputation. A case of amputation at the shoulder joint for infection with Welch's gas-producing bacillus. Recovery, Codman, E. A., 270.
Aneurysms. Cerebral seizures with suboccipital pain: miliary cerebral and gross vertebral aneurysms, Ruston, W. D., and Southard, E. E., 312.
Appendix. Appendix, Böhm, Max, 629.
Army. An army field hospital at Boston during the A. M. A. meeting, 421; army medical corps examinations, 229.
Arsenic. Arsenic in wines, 421.
Auto-Intoxication. A consideration of the treatment of auto-intoxication and auto-infection where they are the cause of mental disturbance, Briggs, L. Vernon, 431; 464; 493.

Blood Plates. The origin and nature of the blood plates, Wright, James Homer, 643.
Blood Pressure. Human blood pressure and pulse as affected by altitude, 307.
Books Reviewed. Arneill, James R., Arneill's epitome of clinical diagnosis and uranalysis, 21; Auteurieth, Wilhelm, the detection of poisons and strong drugs, 560; Bartley, Elias H., a textbook of medical and pharmaceutical chemistry, 251; Blakiston, P.'s Son & Co., the physician's visiting list for 1906, 49; Boston, L. Napoleon, a textbook of clinical diagnosis by laboratory methods, 110; Braun, Max, the animal parasites of man, 715; Brubaker, Albert P., a textbook of human physiology, 590; Bruce, J. Mitchell, materia medica and therapeutics, 560; Butler, Glentworth Reeve, the diagnostics of internal medicine. A clinical treatise upon the recognized principles of medical diagnosis, 78; Cabot, Richard C., case teaching in medicine, 636; Caillé, Augustus, differential diagnosis and treatment of disease, 715; Caldwell, Robert, military hygiene, 503; Church, Archibald, and Peterson, Frederick, nervous and mental diseases, 223; Coleman, Warren, a syllabus of materia medica, 383; Cotton, Alfred Cleveland, the medical diseases of infancy and childhood, 590; Culbreth, David M. R., Culbreth's materia medica, 300; Cushny, Arthur R., a textbook of pharmacology and therapeutics or action of drugs in health and disease, 384; Davis, A Edward, and Douglass, Beaman, eye, ear, nose and throat nursing, 685; Douglass, Beaman, nose and throat surgery. Nasal sinus surgery with operations on the nose and throat, 686; Edmunds, Charles W., and Cushny, Arthur R., laboratory guide in experimental pharmacology, 161; Fowler, Nathaniel C., Jr., gumption; the progressions of Newson New, 160; Friihwald, Ferdinand, a reference handbook of the diseases of children, 590; Fursac, J. Rogues de, manual of psychiatry, 222; Gray, Henry, anatomy, descriptive and surgical, 50; Groff, John E., materia medica for nurses, 560; Hanke, Victor, the treatment of diseases of the eye, 744; Harbaugh, C. H., adjuster's manual. For the settlement of accident and health claims, 716; Hare, Hobart Amory, and others, the national standard dispensatory, 251; Harrington, Thomas Francis, the Harvard Medical School. A history, narrative and documentary, 1782-1905, 22; Harvard Medical School, outlines of medical diagnosis, 530; Heinemann, Paul G., a laboratory guide in bacteriology, 636; Heitzmann, Louis, urinary analysis and diagnosis, 353; Hirst, Barton Cooke, a textbook of diseases of women, 22; Holt, L. Emmett, the diseases of infancy and childhood, 444; Howard, Russell, surgical nursing and principles of surgery for nurses, 744; Howell, W. H., a textbook of physiology for medical students and physicians, 744; Hunter, Robert, poverty, 416; Jackson, George Thomas, ready reference handbook of diseases of the skin, 160; Hutchinson, Robert, and Rainy, Harry, clinical methods, 530; Javal, Emile, on becoming blind. Advice for the use of persons losing their sight, 443; Kilmer, Theron Wendell, the physical examination of infants and young children, 590; King, William Harvey, static, high frequency, radio-photo and radium therapy, 276; Klopstock, M., and Kowarsky, A., a manual of clinical chemistry, microscopy and bacteriology, 50; Koplik, Henry, Koplik on diseases of children, 354; Kraepelin, Emil, lectures on clinical psychiatry, 251; Krafft-Ebing, R. von, textbook of insanity based on clinical observations, 560; Lea Brothers & Co., the practitioner's visiting list, 1906, 49; Lee, Arthur Bolles, the microtomist's vade-mecum. A handbook of the methods of microscopic anatomy, 49; Le Fevre, Egbert, a manual of physical diagnosis, including diseases of the thoracic and abdominal organs, 161; Leffmann, Henry, a compend of medical chemistry, 193; Long, John H., a textbook of physiological chemistry, 354; Luff, Arthur P., and Page, Frederic J. M., a manual of chemistry, 21; Luke, Thomas B., a guide to anesthetics, 354; McGrath, John J., operative surgery for students and practitioners, 474; Moore, Benjamin, and others, recent advances in physiology and biochemistry, 659; Morris, Henry, Saunders' question compends. Essentials of materia medica, therapeutics and prescription writing, 354; Mracek, Franz, Saunders' medical hand atlases. Atlas and epitome of diseases of the skin, 161; Mumford, James G., and Stone, Arthur K., surgical aspects of digestive disorders, 110; Nancrede, Charles B., lectures upon the principles of surgery, 715; Noorden, Carl von, clinical treatises on the pathology and therapy of disorders of metabolism and nutrition, 384; Pal, J., Gefässkrisen, 716; Parsons, J. Herbert, the pathology of the eye, 743; Pedersen, Victor C., editor, Lea's series of medical epitomes. Arneill's epitome of clinical diagnosis and uranalysis, 21; Pincus Ludwig, atmokausis und zestokausis die behandlung mit hochgespanntem wasserdampf in der gynaekologie, 686; Potter, Samuel O. L., materia medica, pharmacy and therapeutics, 590; Rachford, B. K., neurotic disorders of childhood: including a study of auto- and intestinal intoxications, chronic anemia, fever, eclampsia, epilepsy, migraine, chorea, hysteria, asthma, etc., 50; Richardson, Hubert, the thyroid and parathyroid glands, 135; Sahli, H., a treatise on diagnostic methods of examination, 21; Schamberg, Jay F., compend of the diseases of the skin, 161; Schofield, Alfred T., the management of a nerve patient, 161; Scudder, Charles Locke, the treatment of fractures, 135; Shaw, H. Batty, organotherapy, or treatment by means of preparations of various organs, 416; Sherman, Henry C., methods of organic analysis, 22; Simon, W., manual of chemistry, 276; Somerville, David, practical sanitary science, 686; Stelwagon, Henry W., treatise on diseases of the skin for the use of advanced students and practitioners, 161; Stevens, A. A., a textbook of modern materia medica and therapeutics, 325; Stimson, Lewis A., a practical treatise on fractures and dislocations, 716; Suckling, C. W., movable kidney, 222; Symonds, Brandreith, life insurance examinations, 416; Thornton, E. Q., dosebook and manual of prescription writing, 384; Turban, K., the diagnosis of tuberculosis of the lung, 354; Tyson, James, the practice of medicine, 474; United States Pharmacopœial Convention, the pharmacopœia of the United States of America, 276; Walsham, Hugh, the channels of infection in tuberculosis, 22; White, William, and Martin, Edward, genito-urinary and venereal diseases, 223; Whitelegge, B. Arthur, hygiene and public health, 560; Whiting, Frederick, the modern mastoid operation, 353; Williams, Herbert J., a manual of bacteriology, 474; Wood, William & Co., the medical record visiting list or physician's diary for 1906, 49; Young, James K., handbook and atlas of orthopedic surgery, 416; Zahorsky, John, baby incubators, 50.

Boston Medical Association. Centennial of the Boston Medical Association, 537; 1806-1906. The Boston Medical Association, Cheever, David W., 509; the past of the Boston Medical Association. Changes in the fee-table, White, James C., 512.

Brain. Traumatic defects of the skull. Their relation to epilepsy. A clinical and experimental study of their repair, Allen, Dudley P., Sanford, Henry L., and Dolley, D. H., 396; a case of cerebral abscess, Burley, Benjamin T., 376; brain abscess. Operation. Recovery, Hammond, Philip, 102; the mental symptoms of cerebral tumor, Knapp, Philip Coombs, 361; the significance of Jacksonian epilepsy in focal diagnosis, with some discussion of the site and nature of the lesions and disorders causing this form of spasm, Mills, Charles K., 453; cerebral embolism following ligation of the external carotid artery, Scudder, Charles L., 317.

Cancer. A further note on a new method of using the Roentgen rays; the consideration of primary treatment of some early cases of breast cancer by these rays, Williams, Francis H., 641.

Cartwright Lectures. The Cartwright lectures, 1906, 83.

Cataract. The operation for cataract, Cheney, Frederick E., 369.

Cerebrospinal Meningitis. Epidemic cerebrospinal meningitis; clinical report and analysis of special symptoms in thirty cases, with remarks on the treatment, 280; lectures on pneumonia and cerebrospinal meningitis, 26.

Climate. The influence of dampness of soil and climate on the diseases of respiration, Barnes, Henry J., 490; the Arctic climate, 167; the climate of Hawaii, 507.

Clinical Meetings. Boston City Hospital, 339; Massachusetts General Hospital, 260, 623; Massachusetts General Hospital, 737.

Congresses. International Medical Congress, Fassett, Charles Wood, 255; International Laryngo-Rhinological Congress, 168; International Medical Congress, 255; opening exercises by the King and Queen of Portugal, of the International Medical Congress at Lisbon, April 19, 1906, 536; the Fifteenth International Medical Congress, 228; the International Congress at Lisbon, 478; the International Medical Congress, 690; letter from Lisbon. The International Medical Congress at Lisbon, W., 566.

Correspondence. Charles E. Buckingham, M.D., Buckingham, Edward M., 115; Charles E. Buckingham, M.D. "Errors in the Harvard Medical School History," Buckingham, Edward M., 169; erratum, Cheever, David W., 566; homeopathy and the Massachusetts Medical Society, Cheever, David W., 451; subdeltoid bursitis: a pathognomonic sign for its recognition, Dawbarn, Robert H. M., 691; Rosenberg's theory of the development of the spine, Dwight, Thomas, 141; euthanasia — degenerated sympathy, 330; International Medical Congress, Fassett, Charles Wood, 255; the Gibbs memorial prize of the New York Academy of Medicine, 83; the Bacillus lepræ (Hansen) found in the mosquito (Culex pungens) and in the bedbug, Goodhue, E. S., 537; a patient's suggestions about hip disease, H. W. H., 114; "errors in the Harvard Medical School History," Harrington, Charles F., 141; the American Society of Sanitary and Moral Prophylaxis, Holt, William L., 168; contributions for professional brothers in California, Kaan, George W., 566; contract physicians, Mather, E. E., 83; some truths and some fictions, Robinson, Beverley, 691; "the purgation of therapeutics," Robinson, Beverley, 281; a correction, Roosa, D. B. St. John, 537; "the medical profession and the medical journals in relation to nostrums," Semmes, R. O., 331; immunity against tuberculosis, Strong, Lawrence W., 140; open-air treatment of bone tuberculosis, Tracy, Edward A., 169; letter from Lisbon. The International Medical Congress at Lisbon, W., 566; a system of clinical research directed purely towards therapeutic ends, Wesselhoeft, Walter, 479; a further note on a new method of using the Roentgen rays; the consideration of primary treatment of some early cases of breast cancer by these rays, Williams, Francis H., 641; Franklin's contributions to medicine, Young, L. M., 597; the House of Delegates, American Medical Association, Gay, George W., 721; diagnosis of subdeltoid bursitis, Codman, E. A., 750.

Cystocele. An operation for cystocele, Graves, W. P., 462.

Cystoscopy. Some cases illustrating cystoscopic diagnosis, Chute, Arthur L., 309.

Deaths. Adams, Sanford W., 308; Barstow, Donald McLean, 742; Beardsley, Grove S., 308; Behn, Karl Edward, 750; Blake, Warren Perkins, 282; Blanchard, Andrew D., 750; Brace, H. Martin, 25; Brooks, Samuel Doolittle, 256; Browning, Pennock, 230; Bullard, William Duff, 750; Burckhalter, Thomas De L., 750; Burrell, Benjamin Henry, 480; Butts, H. Hoyle, 390; Carrington, Henry A., 722; Carter, Theophilus, 142; Clark, Wallace Cleveland, 642; Collard, Philander, 568; Crane, Joseph Sidney, 642; Curtis, Hall, 666; Davis, Robert C., 452; Davis, Wesley, 230; Dearborn, George S., 390; Doane, George Washington, 28; Drake, William P., 282; Fincke, Charles Louis, 360; Fisk, Charles, 480; Freel, Frank J., 308; Freeman, Samuel H., 332; Gaffney, Matthew T., 480; Garrigan, Thomas James, 538; Gerold, Lawrence J., 332; Gifford, Gilbert L., 722; Harriman, James Lang, 28; Hedges, Joseph, 480; Henry, John P., 360; Hewlett, Peter V. P., 332; Hirschmann, Leopold, 332; Holland, James William, 28; Hutchinson, Robert C., 308; Jones, Edwin T., 722; Kingsbury, Joseph Byron, 360; La Roe, James G., 692; Landon, Newell E., 200; Mann, D. H., 538; McGronen, Harry A., 84; McKenzie, William V., 230; McWayne, Leroy D., 568; Mellen, William Michael Edward, 568; Moulton, Charles Fred, 508; Neftel, William B., 142; Oliver, Allen H., 390; Park, H. Eugene, 84; Pegram, John Combe, 508; Perry, Frank Parker, 84; Pettee, John Harris, 282; Richards, J. Wesley, 692; Russell, Selwyn A., 84; Smith, James W., 422; Swan, William Edward, 200; Tanner, John Alexander, 750; Terhune, Richard A., 200; Warner, Emerson, 116; Wetmore, Howard Graham, 538; White, William Maxwell, 28; Williams, Jacob Lafayette, 598; Wilson, Charles G., 598.

Diagnosis. An indirect advantage of the routine application of clinical pathology to diagnosis, Bishop, Louis Faugeres, 159.

Dietetics. A dietetic study, Benedict, A. L., 521.

Drugs. Impure drugs and proprietary medicines, 139; the labelling of drugs and foods, 596; consideration and treatment of the accidents of surgical anesthesia with special reference to prevalent drug treatment, Caswell, B. H., 733.

Editorials. The tuberculosis situation in Boston, 23; the football question, 24; charitable bequests of a year, 24; report of the Massachusetts Hospital for Epileptics, 51; a day of rest for physicians, 51; the Henry Jackson fund, 52; the Philippine Journal of Science, 53; the relation between edema and the elimination of sodium chloride, 79; the Boston tuberculosis exhibition, 80; Massachusetts School for Feeble-Minded, 111; the etiology of lateral curvature, 111; medical representation in the central government, 136; studies in amebic dysentery, 137; the annual report of Harvard University, 1904-05, 162; the public and the medical profession, 164; mental fatigue in school children, 194; pregnancy and diabetes, 195; preventive medicine at Dartmouth College, 223; bills before the Massachusetts Legislature, 224; the purgation of therapeutics, 252; treatment of pneumonia by fresh air, 253; hospital cars, 253; the class method in out-patient work, 277; identification and autopsy of the body of Paul Jones, 278; a possible excess of zeal, 279; the epidemic possibilities of unrecognized or unreported infectious diseases, 301; the report of the State Board of Health of Massachusetts, 302; Lowell Institute lectures on certain prevalent nervous derangements, 303; the prognosis in epilepsy, 326; medical inspection in the Massachusetts public schools, 327; medical inspection of public schools in New York, 327; Massachusetts General Hospital House Pupils' Alumni Association, 355; the annual meeting of the American Medical Association at Boston, 356; a medical and historical guide book of Boston, 357; anatomy in America, 357; the question of homeopathy, 384; Boston tuberculosis hospital, 385; the centennial of the Boston Medical Association, 417; report of the Massachusetts General Hospital, 418; the Journal of Abnormal Psychology, 418; report of the Rutland Hospital, 419; the question of a hospital for chronic disease, 444; the training of nurses, 445; diet as a therapeutic agent, 446; the army medical bill, 447; the death of Prof. Pierre Curie, 475; the danger of epidemic disease in San Francisco, 475; hunting as a medical side issue, 476; the etiology of relapsing fever, 503; priority in the use of the laryngoscope, 504; the significance of habit, 531; Benjamin Franklin's contribution to medicine, 532; report of the New York State Charities Aid Association, 532; opening of laboratories of the Rockefeller Institute, 561; the prevalence of scabies, 562; are surgeons scamps? 563; retirement of Dr. Henry P. Bowditch, 563; the Governor's veto of the typhoid bill, 563; change of publishers. Announcement, 591; reports of public institutions. Pauper institutions department and Boston Insane Hospital, 591; New York Bay pollution bill, 592; the American Medical Association, 637; meetings in Boston, 637; the foreign guests, 638; the nervous system in relation to diabetes, 639; the American Medical Association supplement, 639; the organization of the medical profession in America, 660; the meeting of the American Medical Association, 660; the origin of the blood plates, 661; report of the Massachusetts State Board of Insanity, 687; meeting of the Massachusetts Medical Society, 688; a congress on quackery, 717; co-operation in prevention and control of tuberculosis, 717; the Massachusetts Medical Society and homeopathy, 745; medical inspection of public schools, 745; report of the Henry Phipps Institute, 746.

Epilepsy. Traumatic defects of the skull. Their relation to epilepsy. A clinical and experimental study of their repair, Allen, Dudley P., Sanford, Henry L., and Dolley, D. H., 396; the significance of Jacksonian epilepsy in focal diagnosis, with some discussion of the site and nature of the lesions and disorders causing this form of spasm, Mills Charles K., 453.

Euthanasia. Euthanasia — degenerated sympathy, 330.

Exostoses. Exostoses, Shattuck, George B., 343.

Football. The physical aspect of American football, Nichols, Edward H., and Smith, Homer B., 1.

Fractures. The treatment of ununited fractures of the neck of the femur by operation, with report of a case, Cobb, Farrar, 517; fracture of the lower end of the femur, Francis, George Hills, 677; fractures of the superior maxillary bone caused by direct blows over the malar bone. A method for the treatment of such fractures, Lothrop, Howard A., 8; crush of cord from spinal fracture, Walton, G. L., 632; fracture of skull probably involving the base. Recovery after operation. Analysis of the aphasia, Walton, G. L., and Brewster, G. W. W., 630.

Fraudulent Practitioners. Prosecution of fraudulent practitioners, 82.

Gall Bladder. A case of multiple ulcers of the gall bladder, Locke Edwin A., and Wolbach, S. B., 696.
Gout. Gout, Shattuck, George B., 342.
Gynecology. A case of acute torsion of the Fallopian tube with hematosalpinx, Burrage, W. L., 295; recent progress in gynecology, Burrage, W. L., 438; adenomyoma of the uterus. A report of four cases, Graves, W. P., 283; vaginapexy, Graves, W. P., 152; a review of five cases of ovarian cyst with twisted pedicle, Green, Charles M., 293; case of inverted uterus, Hare, C. H., 157; bilateral torsion of the Fallopian tubes, Storer, Malcolm, 285.

Harvard Medical School. Charles E. Buckingham, M.D. "Errors in the Harvard Medical School History," Buckingham, Edward M., 169; "Errors in the Harvard Medical School History," Harrington, Thomas F., 141; method of instruction in the Harvard Medical School, Shattuck, Frederick C., 607; the Harvard Medical School as viewed at St. Paul, 450.
Head Injuries. Brain injuries. 1. Gunshot wound involving both occipital lobes: study of visual field. 2. Fracture of skull: injury to frontal lobe, Baldwin, Henry C., 185; indications for operation in head injuries, Bullard, William N., 184; head injuries, Prince, Morton, 182; serious head injuries and the indications for operative treatment, Sachs, B., 176; gunshot wounds of the head and spine, Weiser, Walter R., 314.
Health. Dazzling health statistics, Mays, Thomas J., 42.
Heart Disease. Ascites following adherent pericarditis and perihepatitis, Cutler, E. G., 629; the treatment of chronic diseases of the heart by the Nauheim methods: its indications and contra-indications, Kinnicutt, Francis P., 539; the use and abuse of digitalis, Pfaff, Franz, 551; the treatment of organic heart disease by the pneumatic cabinet, Quimby, Charles E., 543; depletion in heart disease, Shattuck, Frederick C., 549.
Hematology. The teaching of hematology, Larrabee, Ralph C., 577.
Homeopathy. Homeopathy and the Massachusetts Medical Society, Cheever, David W., 451; the homeopathic principle, Percy, Frederick B., 336; the testimony of the fathers, Rockwell, A. E. P., 652; a system of clinical research directed purely towards therapeutic ends, Wesselhoeft, Walter, 479.
Hospital Conference. The hospital conference of the city of New York, 451.
Hospital Organization. Committee on hospital organization in New York, 199.
Hydrotherapy. On the development of scientific hydrotherapy, Pratt, Joseph H., 85.
Hygiene. The sanitary importance of clean milk, Harrington, Charles, 121; some influences in favor of better market milk, Pearson, R. A., 463.
Hyperemia. The hyperemia treatment of congested and inflamed tissues, Bradford, E. H., 671.

Idiocy. Amaurotic family idiocy: a report of four cases, Quackenboss, Alex., 238.
Intestine. A case of congenital occlusion of the small intestine. Operation. Autopsy, Davis, Lincoln, and Richardson, Oscar, 266.

Joint Disease. The treatment of joint disease by passive congestion, Hartwell, H. F., 483; remarks on the infections of joints, Lovett, Robert W., 575.

Laboratory Methods. The value of laboratory methods to the country practitioner, Cowan, J. R., 257.
Landry's Paralysis. A case of Landry's paralysis, Alsever, W. D., 408.
Lateral Curvature. A contribution to the etiology of "lateral curvature" of the spine, Böhm, Max, 99; recent researches on the pathology and etiology of juvenile spine deformities. (Lateral curvature of the spine.) Böhm, Max, 624.
Lympho-Sarcoma. General lympho-sarcoma especially active in the throat. Preliminary report, Emerson, F. P., 104.

Malaria. Analysis of the one hundred and twenty cases of malaria occurring at Camp Gregg, Philippine Islands, Chamberlain, Weston P., 29; malaria in the tropics, 451.
Medical Notes. 25; 53; 80; 112; 137; 164; 196; 226; 253; 279; 304; 328; 357; 386; 419; 447; 476; 505; 533; 563; 592; 639; 661; 688; 718; 747.
Medicine. A definition of the practice of medicine, 199; the border line in medicine and surgery, 329; Franklin's contributions to medicine, Young, L. M., 597.
Memorial. Joseph Leidy memorial, 359; a memorial to the late Dr. Chadwick at the Medical Library, 389.
Meningitis. A case of acute meningitis. Operation. Recovery, Crockett, E. A., 103; epidemic cerebrospinal meningitis; clinical report and analysis of special symptoms in thirty cases, with remarks on the treatment, 280; lectures on pneumonia and cerebrospinal meningitis, 26.
Mental Disease. Observation hospital for mental disease. Some reasons why there should be one in Boston, or at least an observation ward; statistics of those at Albany and Glasgow, Briggs, L. Vernon, 696.
Metatarsalgia. An inexpensive mechanical treatment for anterior metatarsalgia, Young, Ernest Boyen, 338.
Miscellany. Lectures on pneumonia and cerebrospinal meningitis, 26; immunization of cows against tuberculosis, 27; prosecution of fraudulent practitioners, 82; the Cartwright lectures, 1906, 83; testimonial to Mr. Henry H. Sprague, 114; impure drugs and proprietary medicines, 139; a unique case, 140; the State Board of Charity on Dr. Bowditch's dismissal, 140; a tribute to Prof. E. S. Wood, 167; some obstetrical methods practised in the Philippines, 167; the Arctic climate, 167; International Laryngo-Rhinological Congress, 168; a definition of the practice of medicine, 199; committee on hospital organization in New York, 199; the edibility of animal spleens, 199; the Fifteenth International Medical Congress, 228; a review of yellow fever epidemics in Maryland, 229; army medical corps examinations, 229; Professor Minot concerning old age, 254; International Medical Congress, 255; resolutions on the death of Dr. John I. French, 255; epidemic cerebrospinal meningitis; clinical report and analysis of special symptoms in thirty cases, with remarks on the treatment, 280; the Boston session of the American Medical Association, 281; official organ of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, 281; human blood pressure and pulse as affected by altitude, 307; the New Haven Medical Association, 307; the border line in medicine and surgery, 329; general paralysis among women, 359; Joseph Leidy memorial, 359; a memorial to the late Dr. Chadwick at the Medical Library, 389; American Medicine becomes a monthly, 389; arsenic in wines, 421; an army field hospital in Boston during the A. M. A. meeting, 421; the Harvard Medical School as viewed at St. Paul, 450; malaria in the tropics, 451; the hospital conference of the city of New York, 451; the International Congress at Lisbon, 478; the climate of Hawaii, 507; the statistics of the medical students in Germany, 507; in honor of Dr. J. W. C. Ely's sixty years of active practice, 534; opening exercises, by the King and Queen of Portugal, of the International Medical Congress at Lisbon, April 19, 1906, 536; letters from San Francisco, 536; centennial of the Boston Medical Association, 537; opening exercises of laboratories of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, 595; the labelling of drugs and foods, 596; a guide book for physicians visiting Boston, 597; governmental meat inspection, 664; national volunteer emergency-service medical corps, 665; Brit[illegible] Medical Association, 665; the International Medical Congress, [illegible] councillors' meeting, 720; criminal anthropology and thug skulls, 749.
Moral Prophylaxis. Sanitary and moral prophylaxis, Morrow, Prince A., 674.

National Association. Official organ of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, 281.
Nauheim Methods. The treatment of chronic diseases of the heart by the Nauheim methods: its indications and contra-indications, Kinnicutt, Francis P., 539.
Needle Holder. New needle holder, Barney, J. Dellinger, 375.
New Haven. The New Haven Medical Association, 307.
New Instruments. A new needle holder, Barney, J. Dellinger, 375; new instrument. Tonsil scissors, Blodgett, John H., 237; a new gouge for submucous operations in the nose, Coffin, Rockwell A., 217; apparatus for local application of dry cold and heat, Baird, Addison W., 706.
Nostrums. The medical profession and the medical journals in relation to nostrums, Billings, Frank, 231; "the medical profession and the medical journals in relation to nostrums," Semmes, R. O., 331; ready-made remedies, Wheatley, Frank G., 235.

Obituaries. Prof. Alfred Schaper, 55; Emmet Cooper Dent, M.D., 82; James Arthur Mahon, M.D., 114; Ernst Ziegler, M.D., 166; George Ryerson Fowler, M.D., 198; John Slade Ely, M.D., 198; Charles A Lindsley, M.D., 307; Robert Ogden Doremus, A.M., M.D., LL.D., 358, Dr. Selwyn A. Russell, 389; A. C. M. Moir, M.D. Resolutions from the Staff of the Newton Hospital, 450; John Combe Pegram, Jr., M.D., 506 James Winchell Coleman Ely, M.D., 534; Dr. Esther H. Hawkes, 594; Charles Warrenne Allen, M.D., 664; Lewis Weigel, M.D., 664; Hall Curtis, M.D., 665; Mary Putnam Jacobi, M.D., 690.
Obstetrics. A second ectopic pregnancy in same patient within period of fourteen months, Allen, Bradford, 654; puerperal septicemia, Stevens E. H., 12; a case of extra-uterine pregnancy, Swift, John B., 158; some obstetrical methods practised in the Philippines, 167; fibroids and pregnancy, extra- and intra-uterine pregnancy, Young, Ernest Boyen, 339.
Old Age. Professor Minot concerning old age, 254.

Paralysis. A case of Landry's paralysis, Alsever, W. D., 408; general paralysis among women, 359.
Peripheral Nerves. Dislocation of shoulder with contusion of brachial plexus, Crandon, L. R. G., 339.
Peritonitis. General purulent peritonitis without obvious cause, Scannell, David D., 341; general purulent peritonitis without obvious cause; secondary enterostomy, Scannell, David D., 340.
Photophobia. Photophobia. A nasal reflex, Spear, Edmund D., 236.
Pneumonia. The complications of acute pneumonia, Jackson, Henry, 620; cold fresh air treatment of pneumonia. A case, Northrup, W. P., 216; lectures on pneumonia and cerebrospinal meningitis, 26.
Progress. Report on progress in dermatology, Bowen, John T., and Towle, Harvey P., 584; recent progress in gynecology, Burrage, W. L., 438; report on the progress of surgery, Burrell, Herbert L., and Cushing, H. W., 498, 523; recent progress in laryngology, Coolidge, A., Jr., 44; progress in gastro-intestinal diseases, Joslin, Elliott P., 655, 679, 707; progress in therapeutics, Lord, Frederick T., 632; progress in pathology, Pratt, Joseph H., 318, 343, 679; progress in thoracic diseases, Richardson, Mark W., 296; progress in genito-urinary surgery, Watson, F. S., and Thorndike, Paul, 239; recent progress in obstetrics, Burrage, W. L., 740.
Prostate. Prostatic hypertrophy, perineal prostatectomy. Recovery. Immediate result cure, Watson, F. S., 340.
Pruritus Ani. Pruritus ani: its etiology and treatment, Hill, T. Chittendon, 580.
Psychiatry. A consideration of the treatment of auto-intoxication or auto-infection where they are the cause of mental disturbance, Briggs, L. Vernon, 431, 464, 493; the problem of psychiatry in the functional psychoses, Cowles, Edward, 117, 143, 171.
Pyopneumo-Thorax. Pyopneumo-thorax. Operation, Watson, F. S., 340.

Rockefeller Institute. Opening exercises of laboratories of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, 595.
Rosenberg's Theory. Rosenberg's theory of the development of the spine, Dwight, Thomas, 141.
Resolutions. Resolutions on the death of Dr. John I. French, 255.

Scabies. Scabies, Bowen, John T., 624.
Septicemia. Puerperal septicemia, Stevens, E. H., 12.
Shoes. Shoes and feet, Soutter, Robert, 40.
Shoulders. On stiff and painful shoulders. The anatomy of the subdeltoid or subacromial bursa and its clinical importance. Subdeltoid bursitis, Codman, E. A., 613; dislocation of shoulder with contusion of brachial plexus, Crandon, L. R. G., 339; a clinical and anatomical study of resistant forward shoulders, Fitz, G. W., 423; shoulder girdle amputation for carcinoma of the axilla, Harrington, F. B., 269.
Sinus. Description of Killian's frontal sinus operation, Foster, E. E. 91; inflammation of the frontal sinus, Mosher, Harris Peyton, 645.
Skin Diseases. A report of two cases of erythema multiforme desquamativum, one of them complicated by a purpuric eruption, with a discussio c the underlying constitutional conditions, Brown, Philip King, 126; a case of psoriasis cured by laparotomy and curettage, Sylvester, Charles P., 583.

Societies. American Academy of Medicine, 272; American Dermatological Association, 378, 413; American Orthopedic Association, 15; Boston Homeopathic Medical Society, 348; Boston Medical Library Meeting in conjunction with the Suffolk District Branch of the Massachusetts Medical Society, Surgical Section, 410; College of Physicians of Philadelphia, Section on General Medicine, 379; Library Meeting of the Suffolk District Medical Society, Medical Section, 242, 557; Mississippi Valley Medical Association, 75, 107, 131; New England Association for the Education of Nurses, 321; New England Otological and Laryngological Society, 105; Philadelphia County Medical Society, 219, 245; The American Therapeutic Society, 657, 682; The Boston Society of Psychiatry and Neurology, 191; The Medical Association of the Greater City of New York, 46; The Medical Jurisprudence Society of Philadelphia, 588; The National Association for the Study of Epilepsy and the Care and Treatment of Epileptics, 248; The New York Academy of Medicine, 441; The Obstetrical Society of Boston, 14, 159; The Society of Clinical Surgery, 529; The Southern Surgical and Gynecological Association, 298, 323, 351, 381; Western Surgical and Gynecological Association, 469, 500; American Bacteriologists, 711; Rhode Island Medical Society, 743

Spirochæte. A demonstration of Spirochæte pallida of syphilis, with description of rapid method of staining, Manahan, T. J., 264; some etiological suggestions. (1) Concerning the significance of an embryo intestinal worm found in the blood stream; (2) regarding a spirochæte found in yaws papules; and (3) a hint as to the possible connection between chiggers and ainhum, Wellman, F. C., 489; supplementary note on a spirochæte found in yaws papules, Wellman, F. C., 490.

Spleen. The edibility of animal spleens, 199.

Statistics. The statistics of the medical students in Germany, 507.

Stomach. A fatal case of gastric tetany, Davis, Lincoln, 436; a report of three cases of perforated gastric ulcer; gastro-enterostomy, Jones, Daniel Fiske, 36; stenosis of the pylorus in infancy. The report of a second case successfully operated upon. Remarks, Scudder, Charles L., 208

Subdeltoid Bursitis. On stiff and painful shoulders. The anatomy of the subdeltoid or subacromial bursa and its clinical importance. Subdeltoid bursitis, Codman, E. A., 613; subdeltoid bursitis; a pathognomonic sign for its recognition, Dawbarn, Robert H. M., 691.

Syphilis. A demonstration of Spirochæte pallida of syphilis, with description of rapid method of staining, Manahan, T. J., 264; the value of Virchow's smooth atrophy of the base of the tongue in the diagnosis of syphilis, Potter, Nathaniel Bowditch, 260; what effective measures are there for the prevention of the spread of syphilis and the increase of prostitution? Cumston, Charles Greene, 729.

Tabes. A study of the larynx in tabes, Greene, D. Crosby, Jr., 97.

Tchaikovsky. A biographic clinic on Tchaikovsky, Gould, George M., 513, 552.

Testimonial. Testimonial to Mr. Henry H. Sprague, 114.

Tetany. A fatal case of gastric tetany, Davis, Lincoln, 436.

Therapeutics. An experience with cascara, Chase, Richard F., 523; "the purgation of therapeutics," Robinson, Beverley, 281; the value of drugs in therapeutics, Shattuck, Frederick C., 333.

Tonsil Scissors. New instrument. Tonsil scissors, Blodgett, John H., 237.

Tuberculosis. A report of seventeen cases in open-air treatment for surgical tuberculosis in children, Adams, John D., 71; open-air treatment of bone tuberculosis at the Wellesley Convalescent Home: with a list of thirty permanently cured cases, Bradford, E. H., 57; on the importance of early diagnosis in cases of pulmonary tuberculosis, Clapp, Herbert C., 65; what should be the state policy regarding tuberculosis in insane asylums? Copp, Owen, 63; contractile processes in the lungs as a result of phthisis, with reference especially to their production of permanent dextrocardia, Dunham, Henry B., 155; the open-air treatment of tuberculosis, Griffin, Walter A., 288; the early diagnosis and the aggressive treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis in a large out-patient clinic, Hawes, John B., 2d, 373; immunization of cows against tuberculosis, 27; what special instructions regarding tuberculosis should be given institution nurses and other employees? Are nurses caring for cases of tuberculosis in danger of contracting the disease? Nichols, John H., 64; the suppression of tuberculosis in our daily herds, Peters, Austin, 67; the "home sanatorium" treatment of consumption, Pratt, Joseph H., 210; the successful treatment of tuberculosis, Rogers, Albert E., 291; should the tuberculosis insane in hospitals be segregated? Rogers, O. F., 62; what is the relation between human and bovine tuberculosis and how does it affect inmates of public institutions? Smith, Theobald, 60; immunity against tuberculosis, Strong, Lawrence W., 140; the treatment of tuberculosis in public institutions, Tileston, Wilder, 66; day sanatorium for consumptives, Parker Hill, Boston, Townsend, David, 69; open-air treatment of bone tuberculosis, Tracy, Edward A., 169.

Tumors. Case of tumor of spinal cord, correctly diagnosticated; operation; marked improvement, Baldwin, Henry C., 623; adenomyoma of the uterus. A report of four cases, Graves, W. P., 283; I. Resection of colon for obstruction by a malignant adenoma. II Epithelioma of the esophagus. Excision. III. Shoulder girdle amputation for carcinoma of the axilia. IV. Traumatic cyst of the pancreas, Harrington, F. B., 269; a tumor of the kidney shown by microscopic examination to be hypernephroma, Hubbard, J. C., 339; the mental symptoms of cerebral tumor, Knapp, Philip Coombs, 361; the results of operation for the removal of cerebral tumors, Knapp, Philip Coombs, 124; adenocarcinoma of the sigmoid flexure, Lund, F. B., 341; a metastatic hypernephroma, Scudder, Charles L., 271; a case of hypernephroma, Shattuck, F. C., 270.

Typhoid Fever. Typhoid fever in the city of New York during 1905, Billings J. S., Jr., 569.

Uvula. A case of double uvula in a child, Coues, W. P., 706.

Vaginapexy. Vaginapexy, Graves, W. P., 152.

Wood. A tribute to Prof. E. S. Wood, 167.

Yellow Fever. A review of yellow fever epidemics in Maryland, 229.